

Creative Quarter is a day of free events in South Kensington offering young people the chance to explore work in the creative industries and creative careers. Leading science and art institutions are inviting school groups to participate in a programme of talks, workshops and behind the scenes tours with some of the UK's leading creative and scientific professionals.

Places are free but advance booking for talks and workshops is essential. We will also have a great programme of drop-in events to complement the booked events as well as lots of fascinating exhibitions and displays.

Creative Quarter is a joint event organised by the cultural and educational organisations in Discover South Kensington – home of science, arts and inspiration. www.discoversouthken.com
